

BOURNEMOUTH SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA BENEVOLENT FUND

↻ a charitable fund set up in 1958 to provide financial support for musicians with prolonged or serious illness or injury ↻

The Bournemouth Symphony Orchestra Benevolent Fund [BSOBF] is committed to protecting the privacy of its website users. Accordingly, we strictly adhere to all accepted guidelines and will continue to review and improve our privacy policy and procedures to ensure the safety and protection of your information.

BSOBF adheres to all UK Data Protection legislation made in Parliament that governs the confidentiality of each website user and guarantees the privacy of all databases and member/inquirer lists. The databases remain the property of BSOBF and will not be given or shared with any other organisation, company or individual. Security systems have been put in place to expel any likelihood of unauthorised access to our database and confidential list information.

Contacting You

By registering your contact details with BSOBF you agree that we can contact you at anytime via any method using the details submitted to us, you grant us the right to contact you until you notify us not to. You may do so at any time by emailing BSOBF.

Email Marketing

By registering your contact details on with us you agree that we can send you marketing emails at any time and these will continue until you notify us to remove you from our mailing list.

Personal Information

In some cases, you may voluntarily provide personal information. For instance, you may provide your address or email address in order to receive further information or create an account. We may collect this information and use this information to respond to your request for the information requested.

Cookies and Opt-Out

Like most Internet sites, we may use "cookies" to enhance user's experience on the Web. We cannot use these cookies to personally identify you in any way, and these cookies in no way damage your system or files.

We use information from our web site log files to understand how visitors use our site and to recommend future site improvements. No personally identifiable information is used in these analyses. User information collected via the site is date, time, and IP address.

Consumer Privacy

If you should have any questions or concerns regarding this Privacy Statement, please contact Richard Bagley, Treasurer at BSOBF. We recommend you periodically review our Privacy Statement as we may update it from time to time.

RDF Bagley Treasurer

1st March 2017